ANALYST NOTE

Hera local LLM

The 40.41% return on LPG appears promising but is statistically meaningless given only three total trades. A Sharpe ratio of 1.10 cannot be trusted with such a tiny sample size to confirm consistent edge. The 21.82% drawdown is disproportionately high relative to the wins, suggesting poor risk control or bad luck. You need at least thirty to fifty trades to validate if this strategy has real statistical confidence. The immediate next step is to run a longer backtest across multiple market regimes to establish a reliable performance baseline.
